

MARTIN OPENS WAR ON SMELTER TRUST WITH RESOLUTION

Colorado Congressman
Wants House to Probe
Guggenheims.

By THEODORE TILLER.

The machinery for an investigation of the smelter trust—alleged to dominate the smelting industry through the guiding genius of the Guggenheim family—was set in motion in the House today by the introduction of a resolution by Congressman John A. Martin, a Colorado Democrat, who asks that the Committee on Mines and Mining proceed with an immediate probe of the combine.

In presenting his resolution, Congressman Martin issued a statement in which he bitterly assails the financial and political activities of the Guggenheims. The smelter trust, he says, "has put the Guggenheims in the short space of twenty-five years in the extremely limited list of the world's richest families." Mr. Martin furthermore charges that the Guggenheim interests dominate the State of Colorado politically, and that the smelter combine has left a "graveyard" of rival smelters throughout Colorado.

Congressman Martin characterizes as "astounding" the recent refusal of the Attorney General to acquit the House with any information in the Department of Justice regarding the existence of the trust. He quotes the Attorney General's statement that "no investigation a year ago revealed 'no evidence' that the American Smelting and Refining Company constitutes in itself a trust or any part of a trust."

Denies Statement.

"Unhappily, this is not so," says Mr. Martin. "It is an absolutely safe assertion that there is a smelter trust, and that the Department of Justice is protecting it and shirking its duty and dare not do its duty by prosecuting this powerful ally of the Taft Administration."

In demanding an investigation the Martin resolution prefers the following bill of charges against the Smelter trust:

"That it is charged and generally believed to control the production of gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc ores, the purchase, smelting, and refining of the same, and the marketing and sale of the smelted and refined products; that it is believed to control the production of silver and copper, and to control the production of certain independent smelting charges; that it refuses to handle the production of certain independent smelting charges; that it operates land operations in a manner to injure independent operations; and that it has monopolistic control over the smelting and refining industries of the United States."

Under the Martin resolution the Committee on Mines and Mining is directed to inquire into every phase of the operations of the Smelter trust and to report its findings to the House.

Aware that there is now considerable sentiment in the House against the appointment of additional "special" investigating committees, Chairman Martin consulted some of the leaders on the Democratic side and determined that his regular Committee on Mines and Mining is in position to conduct a sweeping probe of the Guggenheim trust. This committee only needs to be clothed with authority to summon witnesses and compel the production of books and papers, and this probably will be accorded it when the House Rules Committee begins consideration of the Martin resolution.

Makes Charges.

Sensational charges against the Guggenheims are made by Congressman Martin in support of his resolution for a probe of the Smelter trust.

"Congress is showing signs of languor in the trust-busting business," said Mr. Martin today, "but I hope to show that in all the anti-trust efforts of the biggest things in that line has pursued the even tenor of its way."

"At the same time I hope to show that this particular trust is the most corrupting and reactionary influence in Rocky Mountain politics. The blackest pages in the history of Colorado, and there are no blacker in the history of American Commonwealths, were written by the Guggenheim check books from 1902 to 1906, and the State is Democratic at the present time largely as a reaction from the appalling domination of the Guggenheims."

Mr. Martin reviews the history of the Guggenheim Senatorial contest, and says that when Senator Guggenheim became a candidate "not one hundred people in Colorado knew him by sight, he had never addressed the people in Colorado orally or in writing on any political or any other subject, the only thing he had ever written was checks to finance the public utility corporation machine in Denver."

Congressman Martin says that the investigation which the Attorney General says he conducted of the Smelter trust a year ago was "a nice, quiet, star-chamber investigation." "It was just like the Guggenheims to get their trust investigated while nobody was looking. That's the way they've gained the smelting industry," says Martin.

"There was no hint of trumpets about the Guggenheim method of doing things. That was not the way they gathered in the smelting industry on the American continent and got a strangle hold on the mining industry," the resolution says. "That was not the way they annexed a Senatorship. No tom-toms for that aggression. While the House of Representatives was filling the nation with the dread din of Steel and Sugar trust carnage and the magazines were bally-hoing about Alaska and the Cunningham claims, Mr. Wickham was holding a nice, quiet, little star chamber Smelter trust inquiring, and found, to use his own language:

"No evidence that the American Smelting and Refining Company constitutes in itself a trust, or any part of a trust."

"This is equivalent to saying that there is no trust in the smelting business. If this is true, it is more worthy of investigation than a dozen trusts. Such an inquiry should disclose the nature of the trust, the condition of competition in the smelting business, and its application to the admittedly trustful industries of the world should solve the great trust question and bring on the industrial millennium."

ANACOSTIA SWORD SAD TO BE LEE RELIC

Charles R. Burr Is Possessor of Old Blade Which Historical Record Claims Once Belonged to Famous Light Horse Harry, of Revolution.

WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU.

ANACOSTIA, D. C., MARCH 27.

It has become known that there is in the possession of Charles R. Burr, of 1413 Valley place, the president of the Anacostia Citizens' Association, a relic of the war of the Revolution. This is a sword that was carried by Light Horse Harry Lee, of Revolutionary fame, and it has been in the possession of Mr. Burr's family for nearly half a century. It was known to only a few people that Mr. Burr has this old sword, still in splendid condition, and when he mentioned it at a gathering of citizens the other evening many examined the old weapon. Mr. Burr then told the story attaching to the finding of the sword.

Mr. Burr has a valued document written by the late Thomas S. Burr, his father, which contains an account of how the sabre of Light Horse Harry Lee came into the possession of the Burr family. It was presented to the late Mr. Burr, who was an old Washingtonian, being contacted during the civil war with the quartermaster general's office, by Capt. William C. Lindsey, of Company A, 1st Maryland Cavalry, in the spring of 1862. About this date Captain Lindsey, who was ill of the fever, lay in a camp near Fairfax court house, Va., and he learned that a certain house in the neighborhood was the resort of a band of guerrillas, and on sending a squad of his soldiers to the place it was discovered that in an upper room a number of carbines were concealed under articles of women's clothing. The women who lived there were very old, a widow, whose name was given as Lee. When the soldiers took away the arms from the house of Mrs. Lee they also carried off the sword that they found in the building.

The old woman is said to have begged earnestly that this sword should not be taken from her, asserting that it was the sword of her ancestor, Light Horse Harry Lee, as she affectionately called him. She said that it had been in the possession of her family for many years and because of the sword she could not be regarded as a "contraband of war." She brought the sword to the house of Lindsey, and he had Captain Lindsey present it would not have been removed. However, his men disregarded her pleas and carried the sword to their camp. It was delivered to Captain Lindsey, and subsequently it was impossible for her to have it returned. Subsequently it was presented to the late Mr. Burr, with certain instructions, which were never revealed, and he afterward sold it to his son, with the admonition never to part with it.

Mr. Burr has had the sword polished. It measures about two and one-half feet in length, its width varying from one inch to one and one-half inches at the point. Its one-time fine rosewood handle, split and cracked in places, is bound with silver wire. The handle is surrounded by the figure of an eagle with silver eagle, and where the handle joins the steel blades of eagles with outstretched wings. The sword is of fine tempered steel. It is thought to have been used as a dress sword by the revolutionary hero.

John A. Logan Corps, No. 7, Women's Relief Corps, Department of the Potomac, which has recommended the plan for disbanding, pending which no election of officers was held last December, will be disbanded for the current year by the same women who were chosen a year ago last December. When this was announced that the women would continue to maintain their auxiliary to John A. Logan Post, No. 13, G. A. R., a decision of the department officers in Washington as to the continuance of the present officers during the year was rendered, to the effect stated above.

These officers are: Mrs. Ida Ferguson, president; Mrs. Emily Frieble, senior vice; Mrs. Emma Eno, junior vice; Mrs. Jane McLean, chairman; Mrs. Margaret Tew, secretary; Miss Florence Frieble, treasurer; Mrs. Annie Quinn, conductress; Mrs. Carrie Smith, associate conductress; Mrs. Sarah Smith, guard. Mrs. Ferguson, the president, has made her home the meeting place for the corps each month, and a meeting will take place there tonight.

There is no likelihood that the medal presentation ceremonies in recognition of the heroism of Arthur Lusby and Marcellus Balderston, Anacostia school boys, who saved companions from drowning when the ice gave away on the Anacostia river several months ago, will be held before the early part of April. Albert E. Beck, who is making arrangements for the exercises, following the receipt by him of contributions from citizens for the purpose of purchasing two gold medals, has been unable to obtain suitable medals yet, and he will devote this week to selecting the proper kind.

The question whether the Anacostia Citizens' Association shall continue to be a member of the Federated Citizens' Association, as has been some since the latter body was organized, is up for discussion, and the matter will probably be brought up at the next meeting of the local citizens' organization. A lively discussion is expected.

At a meeting of the Emmanuel P. E. Church branch of the Daughters of the King on Monday evening in the parish hall plans were gone over for attendance at the approaching annual convention of the society in the diocese of Washington. This will take place on May 2 in the church at Mt. St. Alban. The representatives of Emmanuel branch will be Mrs. W. G. Davenport and Mrs. W. E. Johnston, delegates, and Mrs. S. M. Frazier and Mrs. J. C. Winterwerp, alternates. In addition many members of the local society will attend the convention.

The Rev. and Mrs. Samuel W. Graflin have gone to Baltimore, Md., to remain while the sessions of the Baltimore annual conference, which begin today in that city, continue. The services in Anacostia M. E. Church while the Rev. Mr. Graflin is away will be conducted by the Epworth League, while on Sunday a visiting minister will preach.

H. V. Omo, of Camp Springs, Prince George county, Md., who left with Mrs. Omo several months ago to become a resident of Ohio, has returned, having his wife quite ill in a hospital in Wakeman, Ohio.

Requests from residents of Congress Heights for road improvements have been favorably considered, and Eighth street and Portland street are under improvement.

Diabetes has long been considered an incurable disease and the only hope held out to patients has been to prolong their years by abstemious living. A newly discovered plant in Mexico called Diabolo herb has been found to be a specific in the treatment of diabetes, quickly reducing the specific gravity and sugar, restoring the weight and building up the system.

The treatment is very inexpensive: $1.00 worth of the herb will last two weeks and will remove the worse symptoms in the most aggravated cases. Call at our store and see the proofs and get a free booklet of Diabolo, showing the proper foods for diabetes. People's Pharmacy, 214 and K Sts. N. W.

GERMAN SOCIETIES WILL SEEK TO STOP ACTIVITY OF WORKS

Californians to Be Asked to Take Stand Against Senator.

The United German Societies of the District will report the activity of Senator Works, in favor of prohibitive legislation for the District of Columbia, to the German organizations in California. The societies, at its monthly meeting last night, decided to request the California organizations, if possible, to prevent further activity by Senator Works, and failing of that, to actively oppose his re-election to the Senate.

A reception, with Congressman Richard Bartholdt and Cuno Rudolph, chairman of the District Commissioners, as principal guests, will be given by the United Societies. The gathering will be held at the Hotel California.
